Artist Statement

I don't believe in God; I believe in the miracle of right now and the tragedy of the passing moment. Stories and our perception of precious time that stories attempt to capture are what drive me.

Driving narrative in ways both logical and absurd are reflected in my painting, writing and filmmaking. The different media fuel one another and present new approaches to tangling and untangling the strings of story, color, character, framing and line. My intuitively created paintings build and break possible narratives for the viewer with juxtapositions of characters, locations, viewpoints and vibrant color. Many paintings also play with place, time and repetition, presenting a filmic journey in a single frame.
